Defamation and Malicious Publications (Scotland) Bill

Paper from the Clerk

Introduction

1. The Defamation and Malicious Publications (Scotland) Bill (“the Bill”) was introduced by the Cabinet Secretary for Justice on 2 December 2019. The Bill and accompanying documents can be accessed here.

2. The purpose of the Bill is to clarify and strengthen the statutory underpinning of defamation in Scots law. The Bill seeks to do this by placing certain key elements of Scots common law on defamation on a statutory basis. The Bill will also replace and restate, in one place, elements of the existing statutory provisions in Scots law.

3. According to the policy memorandum which accompanies the Bill, the overarching policy objective of the Bill is “to modernise and simplify the law of defamation (and the related action of malicious publication) in Scotland in order to:

- strike a more appropriate balance between freedom of expression and the protection of individual reputation; and
- clarify the law and improve its accessibility.

Approach to Stage 1 consideration

4. The Committee began taking oral evidence on the Bill on 17 March 2020. However, this process was temporarily suspended as a result of the hiatus in parliamentary business caused by the COVID-19 pandemic. The Justice Committee recommenced taking oral evidence on the Bill from witnesses on Tuesday 25 August.

5. It is expected Stage 1 scrutiny of the Bill will to continue throughout September and October, and the Committee would report to the Parliament on the general principles before the end of October 2020.
